Twists & turns

AFTER PANDEMIC CUTS YEAR SHORT, THE RANGERETTES ARE BACK HOME AND READY TO FACE CHALLENGES

For decades, the annual Revels production was part of every Kilgore College Rangerette's spring semester. Forevers knew they could come home to East Texas every azalea season to see their legacy onstage and to reminisce with friends. Football games may be canceled because of rain. Trips may vary from year to year. But there was always, always Revels.

Enter COVID-19.

The smile sign in Dodson Auditorium did not illuminate during the production number of Revels this year. The Kilgore College Rangerettes' annual spring 2020 production was canceled, due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Coming to Show-offs? Help keep 'Rettes — and yourself — safe

Show-offs is slated for 8 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 29, at R.E. St. John Memorial Stadium, and the Kilgore College Rangerettes are enforcing the following precautions for the health and safety of the team and audience. Remember the directors' rules you followed? We've got this:

IN THE RESIDENCE

- Visitors are only allowed in the Gussie Nell Davis Rangerette Residence entryway

LIVE FROM KILGORE, IT'S SATURDAY NIGHT

Show-offs will be livestreamed on the Rangerettes' Facebook page. Click here for the page, and click here to view the program.

to drop off gifts — one or two people at a time — starting 9 a.m. Saturday. All visitors must wear face masks.

- The residence living area, kitchenette and bathrooms are off limits to guests.

SENDING GIFTS

Sending gifts to the residence? Large packages, cookie/flower deliveries, etc. are allowed. The residence address is 819 Nolen St., Kilgore, TX 75662. Any letters or regular mail should be sent to student's Kilgore College mailbox: Rangerette name,

A year of change and skillful adaptation

Hello, Foreverers! Despite the changes in the world right now, the Rangerette organization is flourishing. It is simply amazing that the leaders of Kilgore College and the Rangerettes were able to keep everyone safe and proceed with selecting the beauty and talent that is the 81st Line! I know

I speak for all the Foreverers when I say how proud we all are of the way that the traditions were honored while keeping everyone safe.

It has been an exciting time for the Rangerettes Forever as well.

- We successfully raised and matched your donations to provide more than $26,000 toward the debt of the 79th and 80th lines that had their year cut short.
- We funded $30,000 to increase the principle of many of the already established Rangerettes Forever scholarships.
- We launched a higher level of membership at the request of many Foreverers looking to give back — the PLATINUM LEVEL!
- We fulfilled supply requests for the Rangerette office via an Amazon wish list.
- But the greatest fundraiser to date for the Forever organization was the 80th Homecoming event, in October 2019. More than 300 alumni came back to Kilgore to dance at halftime with their Rangerette sisters spanning eight decades.

In addition to all of that, we are looking forward to our 501(c)3 being officially granted so that we can offer a tax-advantaged vehicle for alumni giving.

Around the world, 2020 will long be remembered as a year of unexpected change and skillful adaptation. The resilience of the Rangerettes and the heightened commitment from the Foreverers have been exemplary.

I could not be any prouder of our efforts, and I thank you again for the honor of serving and representing you this unforgettable year.

I love you all.

For their health and safety, Rangerettes did not return to campus after Spring Break, and after a period of hopefulness, the global pandemic forced the cancellation of productions from Broadway to Nolen Street.

“We all know that this is just a small thing compared to the suffering that is going on in the world right now,” Director Dana Blair wrote in a post shared on the Rangerettes’ Facebook page. “We know that there are so many facing such difficult situations and that our healthcare workers are putting themselves in danger every day. There are far more important things than a variety show in our small town. But this is still hard and it is still a loss. I do believe that God is up to something good because He always is ... even when we can’t see it.”

LEAPING INTO ACTION

In the wake of disappointment and heartache, Forevers leapt into action. Forevers opted to forego Revels ticket and advertising refunds to help defray the cost of costumes and other expenses already incurred for the canceled show. Our board of directors launched a campaign to contribute to travel, uniform and other expenses of 79th and 80th Line Rangerettes, calling on Forevers to donate $79. The “$79 for 79” collection netted $13,100, which the board matched for a total of $26,200.

“Our goal was $25,000, and we are thrilled,” Forevers President Lisa McCutcheon Walker, 45th Line, said.

During what would have been Revels week, Forevers united on social media to support for the team whose year was unexpectedly cut short.

PANDEMIC WEARS ON

As COVID-19 cases persisted and grew, other Rangerette activities and traditions had to evolve or be scrapped. After rescheduling and revamping, summer camps eventually were canceled.

Pre-training plans saw revision after revision as well. What for years has been a weeklong tryout process was compressed into a few days, with Hopefuls submitting portions of their audition online and spending limited, socially distanced time on campus.

Prior to the July auditions, the Rangerettes posted an Amazon wish list of cleaning and hygiene items to help make Pre-training as safe as possible. “The Amazon wish list campaign was a huge success, with everything but the back-ordered items being purchased in about a week’s time,” Walker said.

Sign Drop still took place in Dodson Auditorium, but Hopefuls spaced out in the audience saw their numbers on a projected sign. Click here to watch a video about this year’s Pre-training, and see page 10 for a list of new Rangerettes.

Once the new team was selected safely, 79th Line members ventured back to campus to join their freshmen for a socially distanced final tea.

STRANGE NEW YEAR

The Rangerettes returned to campus this month to prepare for Show-offs, with social-distancing measures still in place.

Show-offs is slated for 8 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 29, at R.E. St. John Memorial Stadium (see “Coming to Show-offs?” page 1 for safety guidelines).

As for the fall, KC’s football season was postponed to 2021.

“We’ll be pretty much practicing for both (halftime and Revels),” Blair told the Kilgore News Herald (Click here to read the full article.). “But as far as this time, we won’t be rushed. We don’t have it all worked out, but more than anything, we would love for them to have as normal of a year as possible. We’re proceeding like there will be a Christmas show.”

JUST KEEP GIVING

As a new school year of uncertainty unfolds, Forevers can continue to support the young women who have dealt with crushing setbacks with grace.

“We have also disbursed $30,000 from Forever funds to go toward the principle of Rangerettes Forever funded scholarships,” Walker said.

Forevers can contribute to existing scholarships through Kilgore College Foundation. You can also click here to give to the Kilgore Rangerettes Forever Foundation.

To offer moral support to current Rangerettes, it’s never too late to adopt an active line member. See page 11 for details. ★

AT THE STADIUM

• The Rangerettes will be on the field for the entirety of Show-offs. Guests and visitors ARE NOT allowed on the field.

• The Rangerettes will not be permitted to leave the stadium until all other patrons have left.

• There WILL NOT be the traditional sister line or officer group pictures.

• The event will be live-streamed on Facebook through the official Rangerettes page.

• Masks are required for ALL spectators.

SHOW-OFFS AND THE SHOWCASE

Hours: 11 a.m.–5 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 29

Masks: Required

Capacity: 20 people

Distance: Follow CDC recommendations.

• Seating will be at 50% capacity and available on both sides of the stadium. (50% at the stadium is roughly three times the capacity of Dodson Auditorium, so space shouldn’t be an issue.)

Of course, you're always welcome in the Showcase to make in-person purchases and share your Rangerette stories. The Kilgore News Herald this month published reflections from Megan DeHoyos, showcase director and 66th Line, about interactions she's had with Forevers' family members, including a recent connection with a daughter of a 1940s 'Rette.

"... One can never really gauge the unique days with this organization," DeHoyos wrote in a Facebook post that KNH reprinted. "We spoke of Miss Davis and her life lessons; the lessons that she learned from her mother because of the Rangerettes. 'Stand up straight. Show your personality. Smile!' Lessons of kindness and preparation, timeliness and poise. These lessons are woven throughout its 80 years. It made me proud to hear her speak of the 'fruit of labor' that we all know."

Sun-safety efforts honor 66th Line member

YOU CAN HELP BY PURCHASING QUALITY SUNSCREEN FOR CURRENT TEAM

After classmate Bree Speerin passed away in 2019 from melanoma, the 66th Line continues to honor her by providing sunscreen and promoting skin-cancer awareness to current Rangerettes annually.

SPEERIN

Due to COVID-19, 66th Line representatives could not attend work week to discuss sunscreen; instead, the class is providing handouts about selecting and applying quality sunscreen and about early skin-cancer detection and screening.

The class created an Amazon wish list for Forevers who wish to purchase quality sunscreen for the Gussie Nell Davis Rangerette Residence. To contribute sunscreen, click here and buy items from the wish list. At checkout, select Amazon's prepopulated gift address "Attn: Dana Blair - Sunscreen." If you check out through Amazon Smile, which gives a percentage of your purchase to the Kilgore College Foundation, you can contribute even more to the Rangerettes. Suzanne Harrington Wright Bloch, 17th Line, identified the photo from her tenure as a Rangerette, between 1956 and 1958. She named the Rangerettes pictured as Linda Gladney, standing left; LaVerne Tittle Smotherman, standing right; and Delores Emmett Jones, seated.

"We had some funny experiences at that Houston Fat Stock Show," Bloch wrote in the Rangerettes Forever group on Facebook, referring to the event by its original name. "Did a beach ball routine which had to be scratched because when the ball bounced it came back full of guess what. Also a few of us did a Chevy commercial for TV."

Sharon Bailey Nelson, 19th Line, shared a similar show memory.

"When we did the high kick, guess what went everywhere?!?!," she said. "You can imagine the smell on the bus back to Kilgore!" ★

RANGERETTES MENTIONED IN 'OVER THE HEDGE' COMIC

THE ONE WITH THE 'RETTEES

Click here to view Michael Fry's post about the cartoon, illustrated by Thomas Leslie Lewis III, known as T. Lewis.

The Kilgore College Rangerettes have shared spaces with princes and presidents, and in February they were in the company of Grammy-winning singers and a former First Lady — in a comic strip.

Writer Michael Fry's Feb. 14 "Over the Hedge" cartoon sent Forever hearts aflutter with its reference to the team.

Character Hammy shows off the valentines he has received — from singers Lizzo and Billie Eilish, former First Lady Michelle Obama, actress Catherine O'Hara and the Rangerettes.

"I just make stuff up and write it down," Fry told the Rangerettes Forever Newsletter of how the dancers landed among such company. "I was looking for some reference ... that's weird but enough people would get. It just happened."

Fry, who lives "out in the hill country, a little west of Buda, southwest of Austin," moved to Texas in 1977, when he began college at Baylor University. He completed his history degree at the University of Texas.

"Just being in Texas, you know about 'em," he said of the Rangerettes, to whom he has no personal ties.

"I've seen them over the years — parades, football games and stuff," he said.

His closest encounter was at a hotel before a Cotton Bowl game when he was in college.

"That's the closest I ever got to a Rangerette," he said. "There was a lot of makeup." ★

IT'S NEVER TOO LATE TO ADOPT A 'RETTE

Here's what you need to know about the Adopted program, which matches Forever's with active members of the Kilgore College Rangerettes:

- You MUST email all requests to RetteAdoption@gmail.com. If you do not email, you will not receive information on a Rangerette.
- If your adopted Rangerette is now a sophomore, she remains your adopted for this academic year. You do NOT need to email if you intend to keep your sophomore. This does not mean that you cannot adopt a new member as well.
- Most likely, more than one Forever will be assigned to your Rangerette. You are not obligated to collaborate on gifts, communication, etc.
- While there are no requirements for your level of interaction with your adopted Rangerette, this is still a commitment. Once you adopt, find a communication channel that works best for you, and follow through with that throughout your Rangerette's time in Kilgore. These amazing young women are hungry for guidance and mentorship, and your desire to develop and keep a relationship with them brings great joy.

Email RetteAdoption@gmail.com with any questions you may have. ★

STILL GOING STRONG?

Has your Forever-adoptee relationship lasted well beyond the adoptee's time in uniform? We'd love to hear about it at RetteForeverNews@gmail.com.

Adopted opportunities

For those of you who are considering adopting or have adopted in the past but haven't in some time: Anne Hart Newsom (16th Line) adopted me when I was a Rangerette in 1991–93. She encouraged me, taught me so much about the Rangerette traditions, cheered me on and loved me through those two years, for which I have been forever grateful. In October 2019, I was honored to stand by her on the football field and perform next to her for the 80th anniversary. All of these years have passed, and she is still one of my most treasured, precious friends. Because of her, I have adopted Rangerettes through the years. They have been a blessing in my life. As Forever's, we offer the opportunity to these young ladies to be the legacy and the hope for life during Rangerettes and after Rangerettes. We have so much to offer to them. Please consider adopting!

'RETTE REFLECTS ON PERFORMANCES, EXPERIENCES IN ENGLAND

In November, the 79th and 80th lines were given the incredible opportunity to travel to England and perform in the Birmingham International Tattoo alongside groups from across Europe. There were bagpipes, large military bands and dancing groups, but as usual, the Rangerettes brought something different and special to the table.

U.S. of A.” was one of the most surreal experiences. Hearing the crowd gasp in awe both nights as we landed our jump split is now my new favorite memory of performing in the red, white and blue. It was also with unmatched pride that we wore our state’s flag in our skirt routine as we danced under massive hanging flags of countless European nations. Between performances, we were able to interact with the other performers, and it was very cool to swap stories and share a little bit of tiny Kilgore, Texas, with our new international friends! The two days of the tattoo came and went much too fast, but that was not the end of this once-in-a-lifetime trip.

As well as getting to perform for two consecutive nights in Birmingham, we were also able to sightsee and experience Stratford-upon-Avon, Windsor and London. Prior to arriving in Birmingham, we stopped in Stratford-upon-Avon, where we toured the birthplace of the tattoo ended, we moved on to London, where we spent four days, but not before making a quick stop in Windsor, where we toured Windsor Palace. We were able to see the lavish décor of the palace, many historical artifacts stored inside, and some lucky ‘Rettes even spotted the Queen herself along with her royal dogs leaving the palace in a car! While in London, we were able to visit the main tourist attractions of the city, such as Buckingham Palace, the changing of the guard, The London Eye, the London Natural History Museum, various Christmas markets and all the shopping stores. As a team, we were lucky enough to see “TINA: The Tina Turner Musical,” which was an absolutely incredible show about Tina’s life that ended in a concert. It was also fun to find out that Tina Turner and Rangerettes are both celebrating 80 years this year!

It is with so much pride from all 69 2019–20 Rangerettes that England is added to the growing list of international trips that our world-famous organization has been on. We were so lucky to be able to travel abroad yet again and show another part of the world the magic of Rangerettes. We truly are the lucky ones! ★

The streak began at an overdue sister date in January 2019. Rangerette sisters Kate Basinger, 71st Line, and Shelby Holly Hladky, 72nd Line, were catching up over brunch.

"We realized it had been way too long since we had seen each other, so we decided that we wanted to make it a priority to see each other once a month," said Hladky, assistant director of the Marquettes at Marcus High School in Flower Mound. "Since we had been talking about New Year's resolutions earlier in the date, we decided this would be one we could conquer together."

Spoiler: They kept the resolution, meeting and taking a picture together every month that year.

"I have never done anything like this before," said Basinger, who is studying occupational therapy at University of St. Augustine for Health Sciences. "I always say that I will reach out to close friends and plan get togethers often. But, as you get older, it gets harder to find time. We keep ourselves accountable, and it's really fun to think of new things to do each month. In fact, this is the only resolution in general that I have ever fully completed."

The reunions ranged from coffee to concerts, some hastily orchestrated and some planned months in advance.

"Some (dates) were a little more extravagant than others," Hladky said. "My birthday is in June and Kate's is in September, so we did bigger events for those months to celebrate our birthdays. Then we tried to be festive for November/December. There were a couple of months both of us were super busy so we would meet for a quick cup of coffee."

The sisters took turns picking the venues, and they started a list for future sister dates, Basinger said.

"In terms of depth of conversations, nothing has changed; we have always been super close and continue to be," Hladky said. "I will say being in Dallas allows us to be a little more adventurous than we could be in Kilgore, but Kate did an incredible job of making our sister dates a priority while we were Rangerettes as well."

The sisters planned to continue their newly established tradition into the next year and beyond. Despite the COVID-19 pandemic, the sisters still haven't missed a month.

"It does sound intimidating to fit (a monthly date) into a busy schedule and a crazy life, but having my sister to talk through things with has been the biggest blessing this year," Hladky said. "Not that we don't call/text often, but there is something about getting a hug, being able to pray together, and have devoted time to loving each other well has truly been so rewarding. We both leave feeling so full. It is worth a few hours a month to maintain such an important and impactful relationship. She is the best voice of reason, and one of my favorites to laugh and make memories with."

Basinger seconded the benefits of the resolution.

"A year of sister dates has been a really rewarding experience," she said. "A lot happens in a year, also. We have been by each other's sides during some really life-changing times. You do a lot of growing in your twenties, and it is very special to have this kind of close bond. Shelby and I were very close throughout Rangerettes and also through our time at Texas A&M. But our relationship has grown so much more, going through life together.

"I would recommend this sort of resolution for any group of friends. It's really special, fun and easily my favorite part of every month." ★

... And the photos continued into 2020. "It is crazy to see how the Lord works through a small piece of paper," Shelby Holly Hladky, 72nd Line, said. " ... Our relationship would have never formed if it weren't for her drawing my name. She has been with me through the happiest and hardest times in my life. She is the big sister I never had, loving me in all the best ways. She is selfless and truly such a part of my story. I am so thankful for Rangerettes, and ALL the people it has brought me, but my Miss Basinger is high, high up on that list."
